

Feeding the Masses

Posted on July 3rd, 2009 8:41am by Georgia Fisher

Filed under Business, Dining, Entertainment, Highland Park

Highland Park High School grad Emily Susman ('01) writes that her new event and catering business, E Claire, will have a booth at Saturday's parade.

Susman previously worked in insurance but also has commercial-kitchen experience, she says, and she launched the company about seven months ago to feed her culinary passion and eye for floral design. Specialties include miniature fare like open-faced little BLTs, plus a full range of catering, floral, and bakery services in addition to party rentals, entertainment, and staffing.

I'll update you as to the booth's specific whereabouts, and do plan to drop by on Saturday — once I'm done working the People Newspapers coloring-book contest, that is, in Goar Park. (You heard me. And I may or may not already own a crayon set).

Advertise | Subscribe | Customer Service | About Us | Contact Us | Jobs

4311 Oak Lawn Avenue, Suite 350, Dallas, TX, 75219 (p)214 739 2244 (f)214 363 6948

© People Newspapers 2009 | Legal Terms